FOREWARD

The ancestry of the WALKER family of Walkers, Ontario, is at least tri-fold for many in this book, namely CAMPBELL, LEITCH and WALKER. Other surnames occur with great frequency, evidenced by the index, but these three family groups migrated together, and remained closely integrated for several generations. As many of you know, the Walker surname was taken by one, John Campbell, sometimes known as John Campbell, the Walker.

As you read carefully through the introductory pages, and examine the particulars of these three families you will begin to understand just how a Scottish clan was interwoven. They were intermarried in Scotland before migration, and continued to do so in the new country.

We hope that we will have answered your most basic questions by the time you are through the reading of the early background material.

We also hope that you will send us updates and added features from time to time. It is quite possible that the first year or two after publishing will reveal important additional information which we will all enjoy the more having done this work to date.

Some of our cousins have great skepticism about the merits of family trees, but we are sure that even these relatives will take a peek or two inside this book -- just to prove that they were right. Then, they may be surprised that the drama and fascination of the story will keep them involved, as it did for us.

So, welcome cousins, one and all, to the gathering of the clan!

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

The Gift of the Story from Past Generations

This book would not have been written if there had not been family spirit and pride, warmth and caring, conveyed from generation to generation.

More than that, this book is a vehicle through which our ancestors are given the opportunity, once more, to tell the story of their migration from a beloved homeland and their creation of a community in the new land. We become nostalgic as we hear echoes of those familiar tales and as we envision the faces, gestures and voices of our parents, grandparents, aunts and uncles. How responsive they were when we cared enough to ask!

The Gift of Time and Talent to Write the Story

This book could not have been written without the participation of a great number of people helping those who had the vision of a completed volume and who had the time and ability to organize its pages.

A number of years ago, this story began to be written in several of our family lines. Because Line II (John Walker; Mizie Leitch) has spearheaded the final gathering of the material, we shall start with them.

Perhaps their sketch of Line II was the beginning, when Colin A. Walker (II (7)(a)) wrote down the members of their immediate group. Laura Walker (II (9)(b)) -- who is the guiding spirit of the final draft -- was in on this beginning. She recognized the value of Colin's sketch, and saved a copy. Years later, when her sister-in-law, Elsie (Walker) Earl (II (9)(d)) asked about the family tree, Laura supplied the sketch. Elsie began to update it and to collect pictures. The Line II family gathered for its first picnic in 1978. Laura's son, Cameron, (II (9)(b)(1')) had the spirit and energy to carry on from there. He and his wife, Sherry, organized the annual picnic and set out to gather more of the other family data. He sought the assistance of his cousin and neighbour, John Hugh Walker (I (10)(f)). Some very happy events marked this period of Cameron's leadership, 1978 - 1983.

John Hugh Walker, a member of Line I (Archibald Walker; Sarah Leitch), had assisted Jean Walker (I (8)(b)) and Edwin Walker (I (8)(a)), both of London, as they attempted to draft a family chart for Edith (Walker) Woodbridge (I (8)(d)(3')). Jean Walker wrote letters to some of her cousins, among them Ethel Annett (I (1)(g)(1')), Archie (the Bee-Man) Walker (I (7)(a)), and his daughter-in-law, Betty (Munroe) Walker (I (7)(a)(1')) who worked in the Township office. Jean also received a chart of the Walker-Leitch connections from a student at the University of Western Ontario. (His name is unknown at time of writing.) In recent months, Edith worked through John Hugh and his sister-in-law, Verna (McKellar) Walker (I (1)(10)(h)), who contributed a chart of the Walker's community and the location of first land grants. Verna's daughter, Flora (I (10)(h)(1')), contributed the History of Walkers which she prepared for the Glencoe Historical Society.

John Hugh and Cameron set out to discover how much of the family tree had been written by the various families. They followed the "Michigan Colin" and "Fingal Duncan" lines, and John Hugh paid a visit to Edith Woodbridge to see how much had been transcribed. Edith was most happy to learn that Cameron Walker of Walkers was about to complete our history. Someone with an active knowledge of the home community was needed to sort out the nicknames given to distinguish one Archie or Colin from another. Cameron was busy with his young family, active on the farm, in his church, and on the local Township Council, yet he made giant strides in writing the tree, and in documenting Kilmartin Cemetery. It is amazing how much Cameron accomplished in the short years which were granted to him. Tragedy struck on August 30, 1983, just after the Walker picnic. Cameron was electrocuted in his barn during a violent thunderstorm. It was such a trauma for the family that all enthusiasm for the picnic and the history seemed to wane.

In 1985, Edith and Edwin Woodbridge were invited to attend the picnic because they were planning a trip to Scotland and Argyllshire in September, and wanted to know more history. This was the first time that some of the family compared Lines I and II, and started to bring things together. Alice Earl offered to work on Cameron's documents, but her days were too busy that year to accomplish much searching from her home in Brantford.

In 1986, Joyce Minhinnick of Leamington (II (4)(e)(1')(a')) offered to see what she could do. After her initial organization, Edith and Joyce decided on the final form of the tree for publication. From that day on, Joyce has never looked back. It might have been easy to give up on such days as when she 'lost' sixteen pages of index from her computer. However, Scottish families are nothing if not tenacious, and she persevered!

As the work progressed, another researcher joined in. Dr. Bill Munro Campbell (VII (1)(b)(1')) had just completed the book, The Descendants of Malcolm Munro and Mary McNeill. His experience in Argyll where he took pictures of the relevant places, and searched through records of births, marriages and deaths; his position in the London Branch of the Ontario Genealogical Society as Scottish researcher; his ability as a photographer; his recent dealings with publishers; -- all of these saved us from much doubt and obvious mistakes. Bill knew of Cameron's work, and was very pleased that it was being continued. He was familiar with the Campbell tree of our ancestor Nancy/Anne Campbell, and the Munro family crossed the Walker tree more than once. His contribution was providential!

From the "Michigan Colin" family (Colin Walker; Sarah McCallum, Catherine Patterson), we received an extensive family tree, and this was built into our book. The researcher of that line, Christine (Walker) Conkey (VI (5)(e)), had passed the information on to her son, Donald Samuel Conkey (VI (5)(e)(1')) . Donald, or Sam as his family call him, has since demonstrated that he is an able researcher and an excellent correspondent. Their work in Michigan has progressed during the same time frame as our Ontario research. This also is most fortunate. A 1987 Christmas newsletter from Donald describes the beginning of their portion of the tree: "I became involved in 1964. Since that time, I have gathered volumes of information from a large variety of sources travelling, visits to the London Ontario library, information off tombstones in the cemeteries of Adelaide, West Adelaide, Alvinston and Kilmartin, all in Middlesex County, Ontario." Donald Conkey has lived in Atlanta, Georgia, for twenty-five years.

Line V (Euphemia Walker; Archibald Munro) was put together by several persons -- Mary MacIntyre (V (8)(e)), Carlyle Wood (V (11)(c)(1')), Peter Warner (V 11 (f)(2')) and Edna Mae Campbell (V(1)(a)(1')).

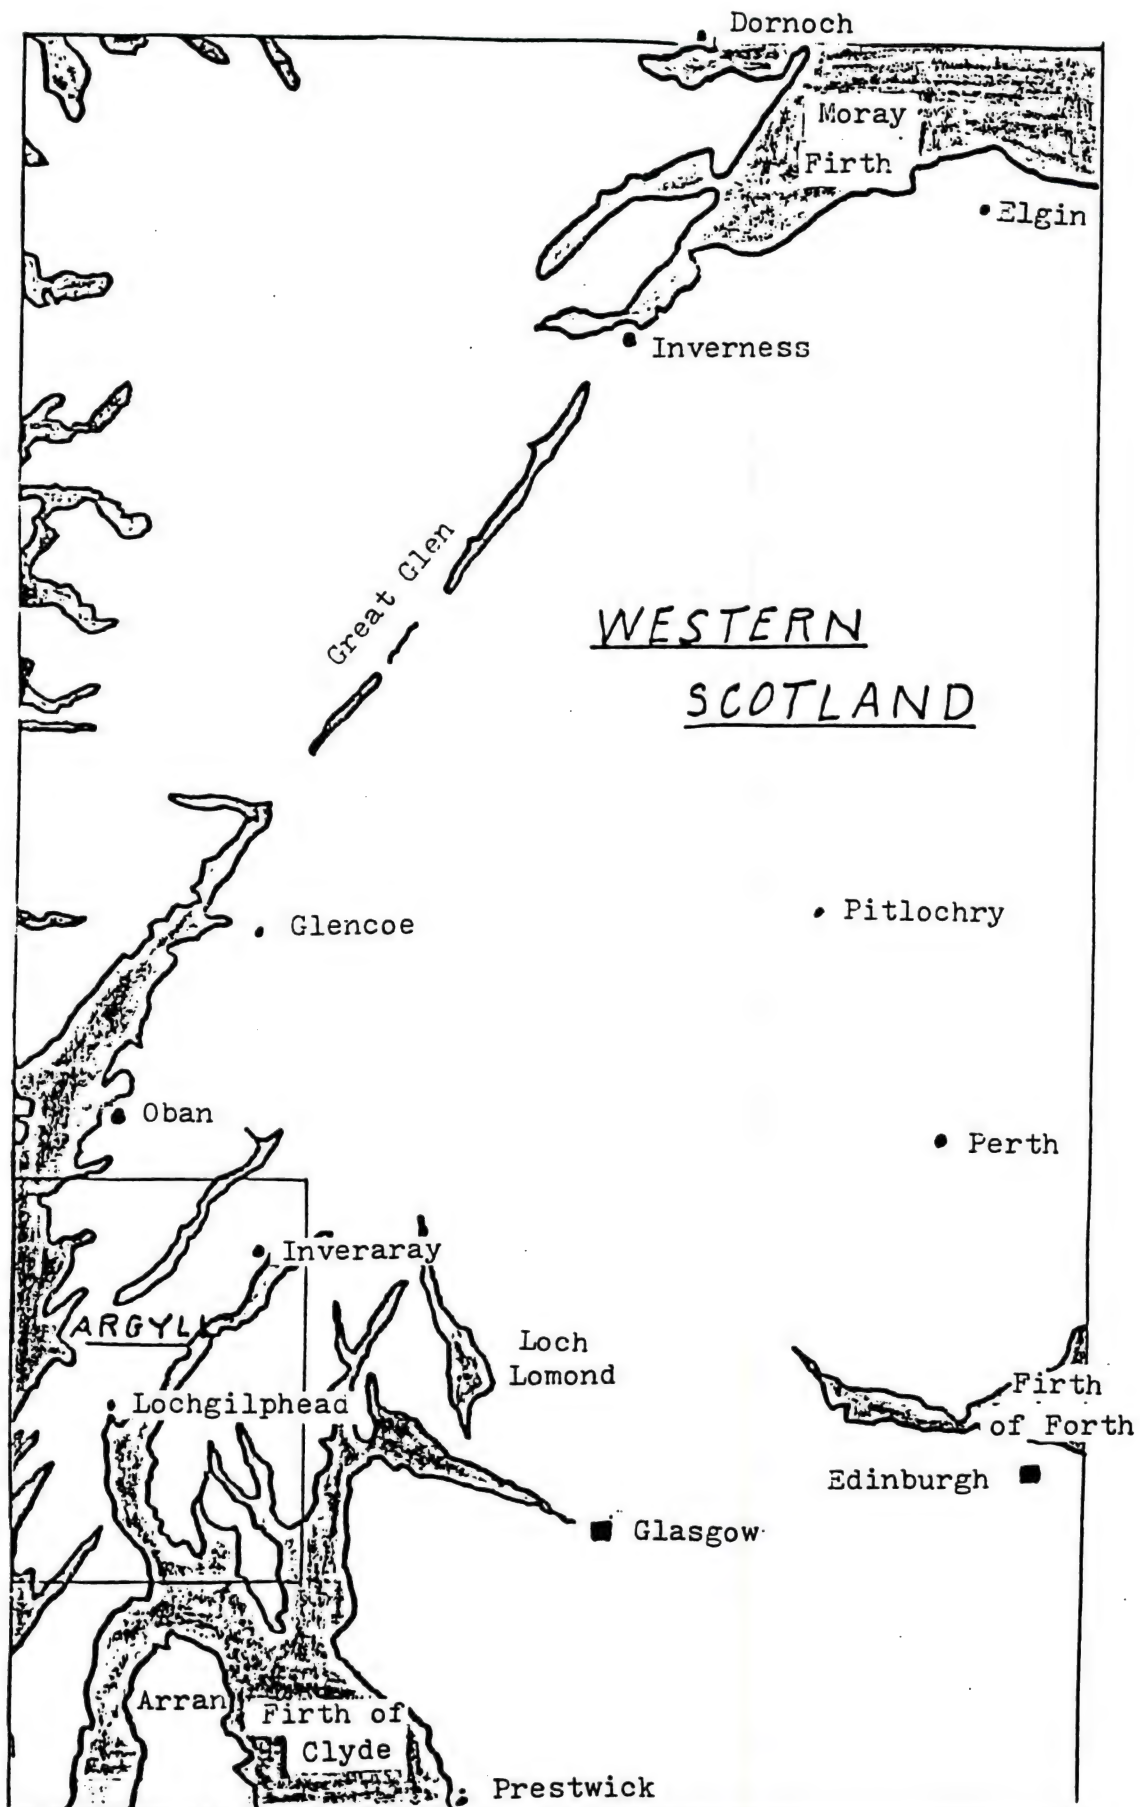

Bill Campbell, assisted by Ila (McPhail) Taylor (VII (4)(a)(1')) worked on their Line VII (Dougald Walker; Mary McIntyre). Bill has also filled in the Line III ("Fingal Duncan" Walker; Mary Munro) and related Mary to the Munro's of that area. He has also been able to locate James Walker's brother Neil (Neal) who settled at Yarmouth.

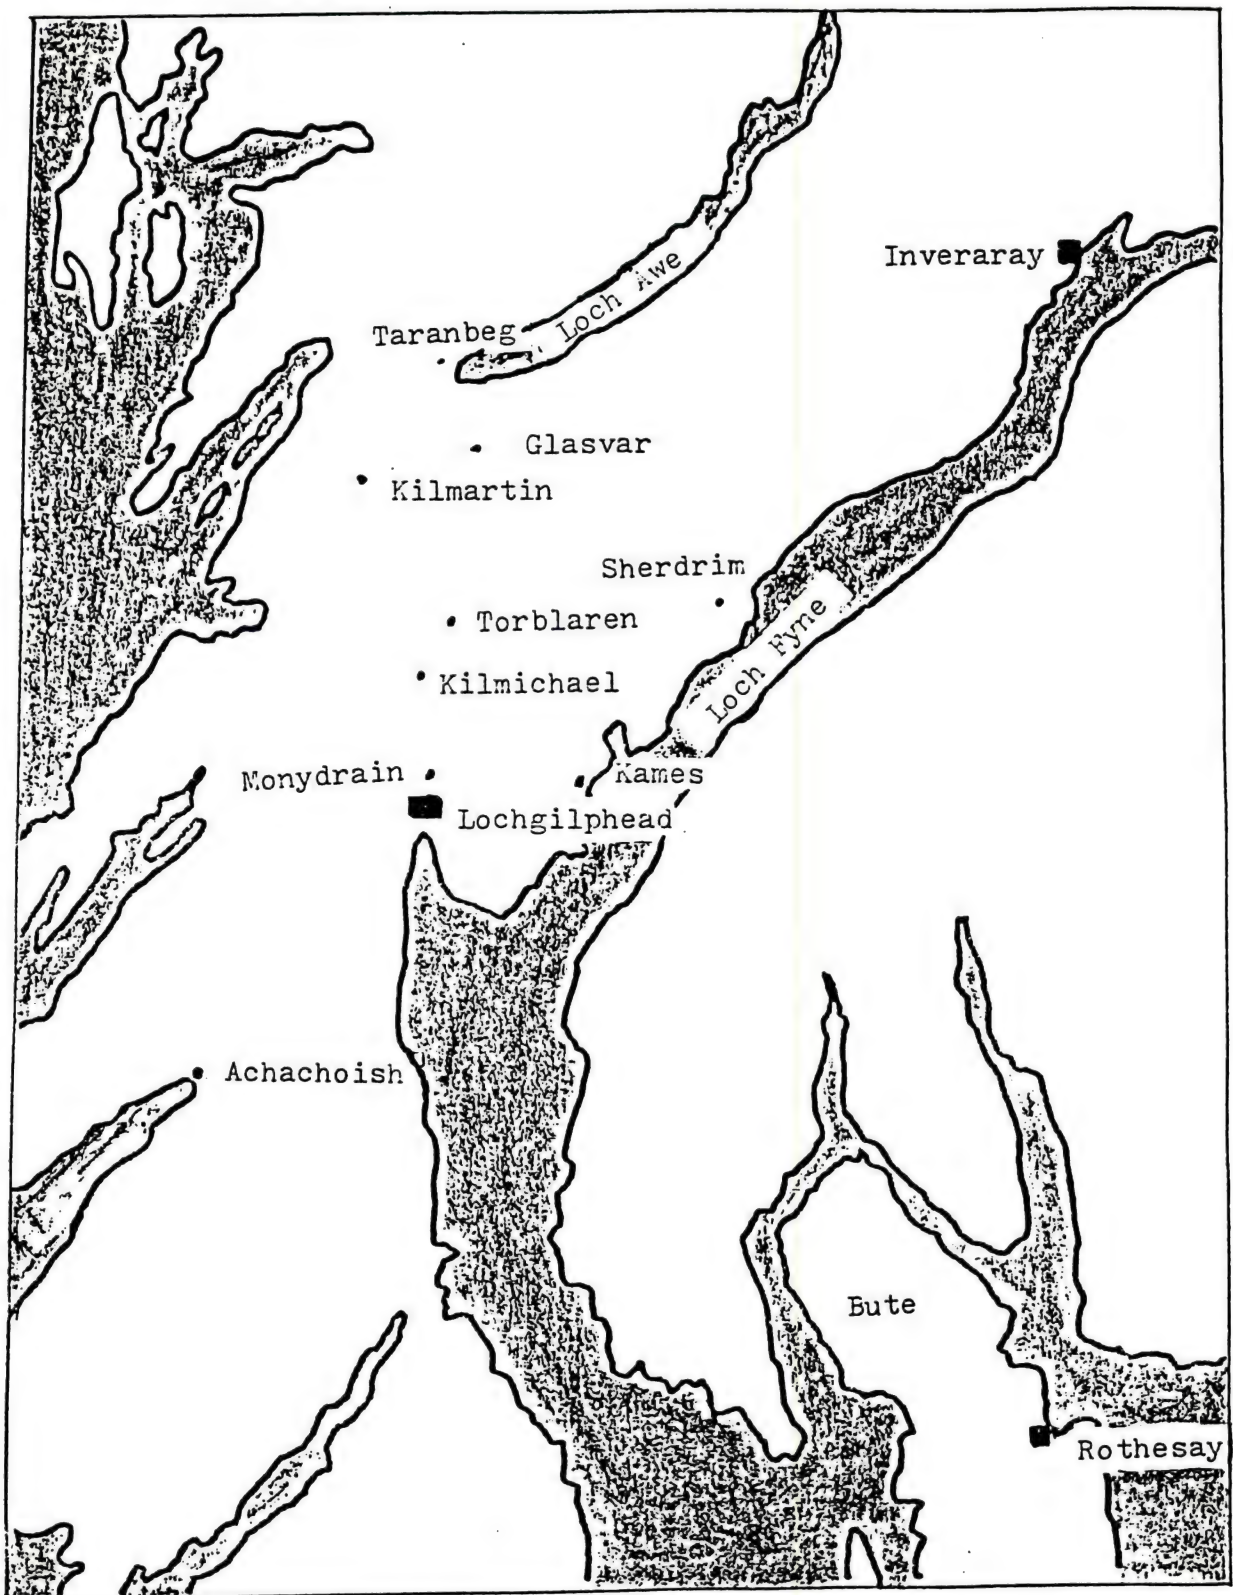

First and last, Laura (Campbell) Walker (II (9)(b), who has determination far greater than her tiny size and frail health, has been most supportive to Joyce as she completes the book. Her hospitality to the research team has been a valuable gift. Through Laura, we have been able to expand on the previous information on Live IV (Isabella Walker; Samuel McDougall). Without Laura's knowledge of the bits and pieces, and their place in the story, we outsiders could never penetrate the mysteries of the settlement of Glenwalkers.

Throughout the telling, we have tried to be fair with all persons, to be sensitive to the feelings which families may have about their story. We are impressed with the dignity and family pride which cares for all members through tragedy and difficulty.

To all family members who have contributed to this story -- our heartfelt appreciation. We could not have done it without you! We ask your forbearance for any errors and omissions. Send any corrections or updates to Joyce Minhinnick so that if there is any further supplement, she will have the correct information.

CENTRAL ARGYLLSHIRE

THE WALKER FAMILY - EARLY HISTORY IN SCOTLAND

By Dr. William "Bill" Campbell
VII (1)(b)(1')

James Walker, his wife Nancy/Anne Campbell and their six children, along with James' mother, Isabell (McCaill) Walker, emigrated from Argyllshire, Scotland, to Metcalfe Township, Middlesex County in 1830. This section is a record of the family of John Walker, James' father, up until the time James and family emigrated from their birth parish of Argyllshire. The information was taken from Scottish Parish Registers which were obtained from the Latter Day Saints Genealogical Library in Salt Lake City and read at the London Latter Day Saints Genealogical Library.

Most of the information was obtained from the Kilmichael-Glassary Parish Register, but some was also obtained from the adjacent parishes of Kilmartin, N. Knapdale, S. Knapdale, Inveraray, Kilchrenan & Dalavich, and Craidich. Checks were made, where possible, with the International Genealogical Index (IGI).

The parish registers give births (or baptisms) and marriages and a very few deaths in Kilmartin and Craidich. The records start as follows - Glassary - 1768, Kilmartin - 1746, S. Knapdale - 1771, N. Knapdale - 1779, Inveraray - 1653, Craidich - 1755, and Kilchrenan & Dalavich - 1751.

The data are shown in the accompanying family trees.

Generation I

According to family tradition, John Campbell changed his name to John Walker to avoid military service. It is claimed that, at that time, he was employed as a "walker" in a textile mill and thus was on the company records as John Campbell, walker in (the mill's name). To avoid "conscription" he erased Campbell leaving his record as John Walker in (). This probably took place just after he was married to Isabell McCaill.

A search of the Scottish records was made to find evidence for this tradition. First, there was the possibility that John Campbell had died and Isabell had remarried to a John Walker. But no record of a second marriage could be found. Furthermore, McCaill is not a common name in that part of Argyll so it is unlikely that there were two Isabell McCaill's.

Since the first Walker birth was 3 years 7 months after John Campbell and Isabell were married the next question was - were there any Campbell births in this period? None were found. Thus all the evidence supports the name change, but there is no absolute proof.

This leads to further speculation. One would have expected a child (Campbell or Walker) in this 3½ year period, so one wonders whether John was conscripted for overseas service after all -- an Argyll regiment served in North America in this period and was disbanded in Scotland in 1783. A search of the military records is being carried out but is incomplete so this "speculation" cannot be substantiated.

A search was made in the records of the above seven parishes for the births of John Campbell-Walker and Isabell McCaill. John's birth would likely be before 1760, too early for most of the parish records. A few in the correct period were found, but Campbell is such a common name in Argyll that there cannot be any certainty.

Isabell's birth is given as 1758 on her tombstone, although such records are not very accurate. The parish records for Kilchrenan & Dalavich are helpful. On March 4, 1756, Duncan McCaill married Marion Lindsay. On 15 March 1760, they had a son Donald, and on 28 April 1764, they had a second son Duncan (at a farm called Nether Fernoch). One could expect a birth about 1758, which was claimed to be Isabell's birth date, but none could be found in this parish or in the adjacent ones. Thus it seems likely that Duncan and Marion (Lindsay) were Isabell's parents, which is supported by the naming convention, but there is no proof.

Generation II

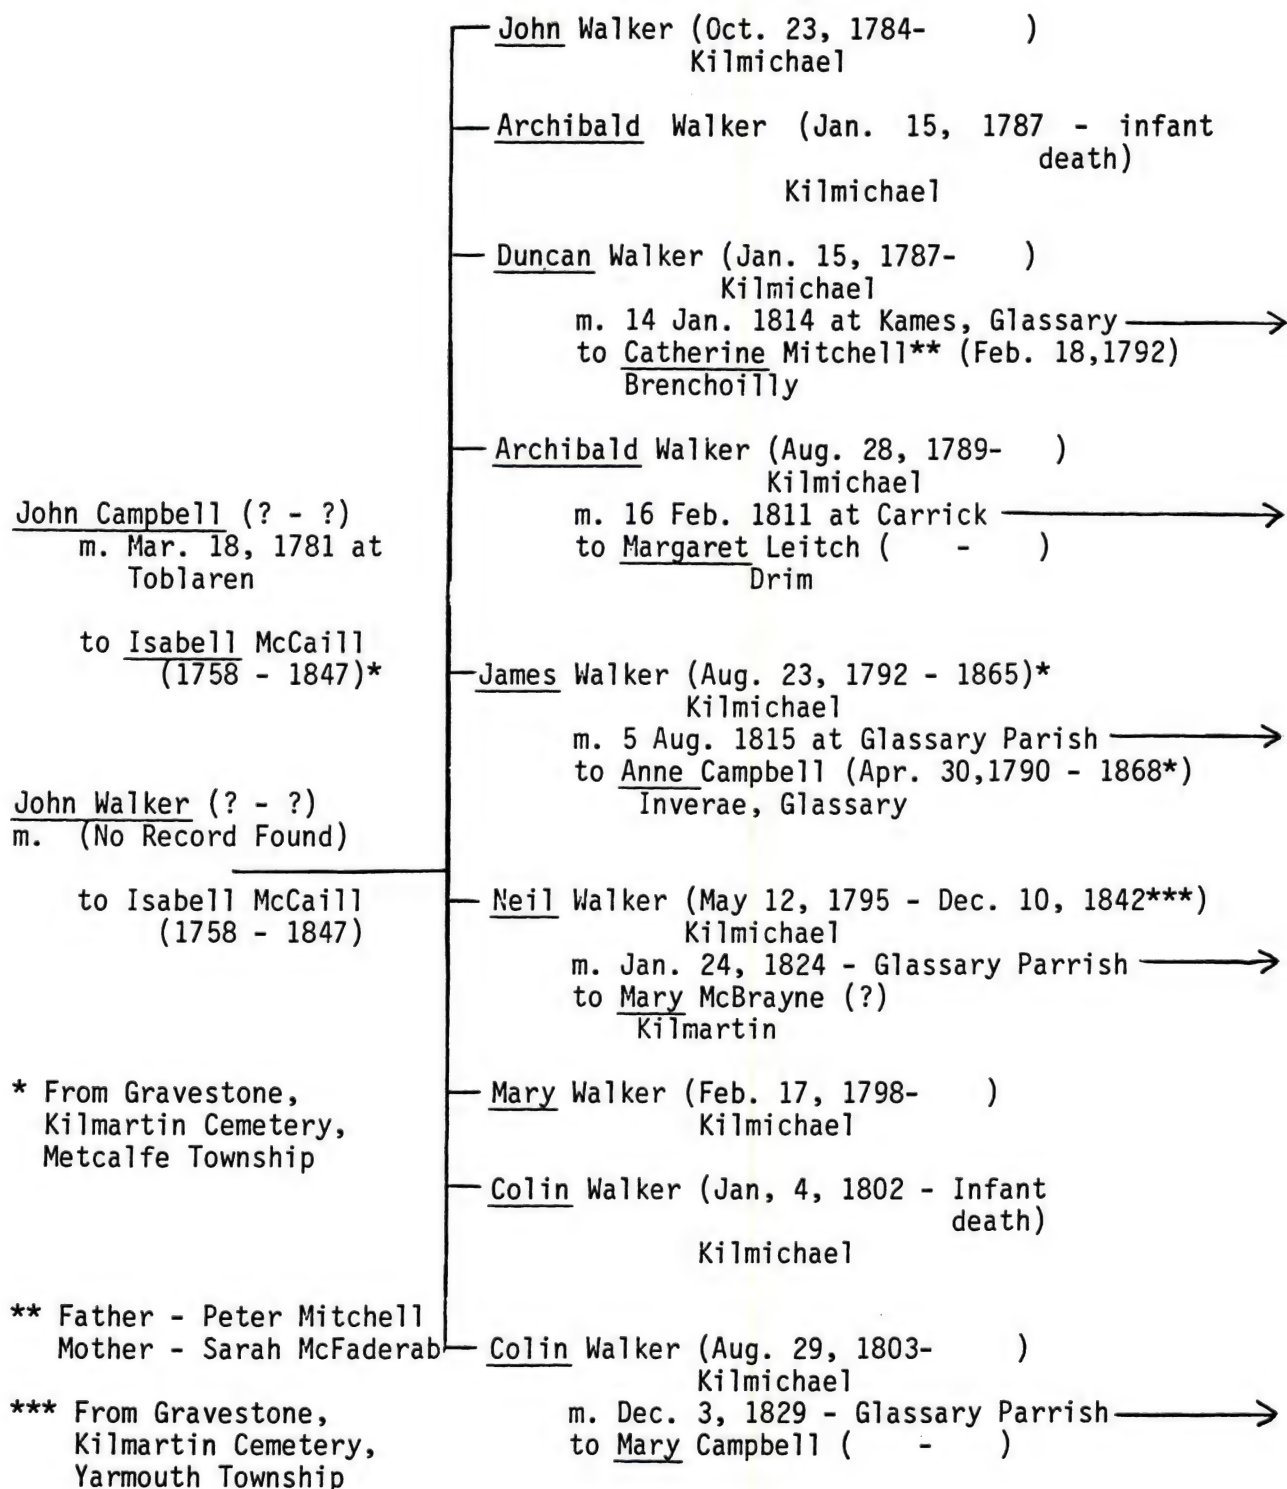

As indicated above, a Walker birth in the 1782-4 period has not been found. The spacing between all the other births is normal and there are no births from 1803 to the end of 1810, so one can conclude that the birth record is complete. It should be noted that there were two infant deaths, Archibald and Colin, since these names were reused as was the Scottish custom.

The spelling of names in the parish records can vary considerably. For example, for the nine John-Isabell children, Isabell's name is spelt MacCaill, McCaill, McCail, McKail and McCaille with the most common spelling McCaill.

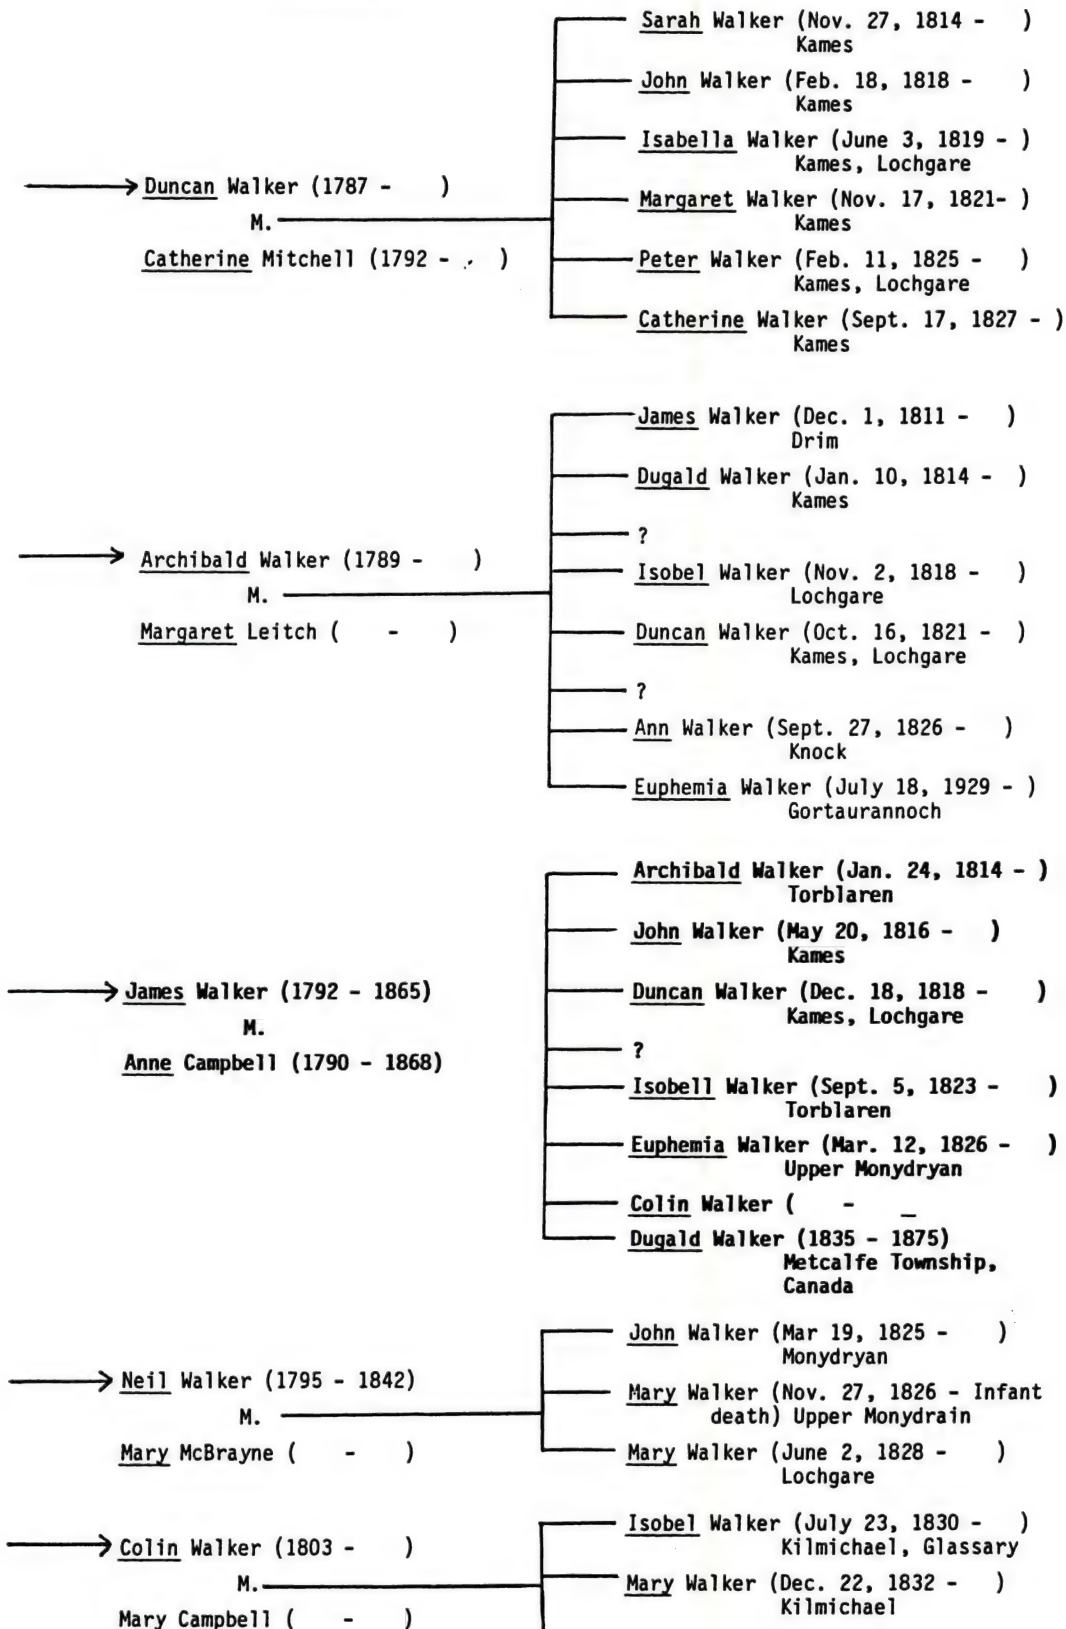

The spouses for all the Walker children have been identified except for John and Mary. Their marriages were not found in any of the seven parish records, although there are gaps at critical times in some of the records. If they had married, one would expect subsequent births, but none were found. One might conclude, therefore, that John and Mary did not marry, perhaps they died before marrying age, John as a young adult at least 19 years of age and Mary as an infant or older.

Generation I

Generation II

Tree 1

Generation IIGeneration III

Torblaren Farm, Argyllshire, Scotland

Generation III

Duncan and Catherine's family seems complete at 1827 since there were no further births to the end of 1836 - unless they emigrated.

In Archibald and Margaret's family, there are two gaps, as shown, where one would expect children. Following the Scottish naming custom, one would expect a daughter named after Margaret's mother in the 1814-1818 period. If there were no daughters there, the naming of the first daughter after Archibald's mother does not follow the usual custom unless both grandmothers were named Isobell.

The James-Anne family has a few puzzles. First, Archibald was born over a year before James and Anne were married, but Archibald's birth is recorded as a "lawful" birth rather than illegitimate as was normally recorded if the parents were not married. From this, one might conclude that there is an error in the marriage date - occasional errors are found in the parish records.

A second puzzle is the naming of the oldest son, Archibald, instead of John as was the Scottish custom. This custom was followed in the family of James' brothers, Duncan, Archibald, and Neil.

The final puzzle is the gap in the 1818-23 period where there should be a daughter named after Anne's mother, Christian - the same in Archibald's family.

Emigration

We know that James, Anne and family emigrated to Canada in 1830, and this history deals with their descendants. But what happened to James' five brothers and one sister?

As indicated above, John and Mary probably did not marry. It is significant that the youngest Generation III children, shown above, were born in the late 1820's or early 1830's, a period of extensive emigration out of Scotland. Duncan's and Archibald's families may have been complete, but we know that James and Neil had children after they emigrated and Colin probably did also. Thus it seems likely that all five families emigrated - somewhere - or at least out of Argyll. There is further support for this conclusion in the fact that their mother, a widow, emigrated with James and family to a strange land at an advanced age of 72. If she had any family left in Argyll, one would have expected her to stay there with them.

Neil Walker Family

Family tradition indicates that Neil and family emigrated to Ontario. A search of the Ontario records showed that Neal Walker bought a clergy reserve, S½, Lot 8, Concession 12, Yarmouth Township, on 28 January 1836. The 1842 Yarmouth census lists the following children - 1 male and 1 female under 5, 2 males and 3 females 5 - 14. Unfortunately, the 1851 census (with names) is missing. From this we can conclude that 2 boys and 3 girls were born in Yarmouth by 1842. Later census data indicates that one of these boys was born in Scotland, although this birth was not found in any of the parish records.

But is this the correct Neil? In Yarmouth Township, a few miles north west of St. Thomas, there is an old cemetery called Kilmartin, now abandoned, where the grave slabs have been mounted on brick walls. Two markers are significant here:

Neal Walker, native of Argyllshire, died 10 December 1842,
age 47

(Note - that this indicates he was born in 1795, the same year as shown in Tree I)

Mary, wife of Neal Walker, died 28 February, 1859,
age 55.

Unfortunately Mary's last name is not given so a positive proof that this is the correct Neil is not possible. All the evidence, however, supports the family tradition that James' brother, Neil, settled in Yarmouth in the early 1830's. This family has not been traced further since they seem to have moved from the area and a descendant has not been found.

Anne Campbell's Family

Anne, like her husband James Walker, was born in Argyllshire and had five brothers and three sisters, as shown in Tree 3 below. There may have been another sister or brother born about 1782. Pheorlin is a farm about two miles due north of Sherdrim, while Inverae is on Loch Fynne about the same distance north east of Sherdrim.

A gravestone for John and Christian was erected by sons Archie and Peter "tenants at Inverae" in Kinleven Cemetery, Minard, Argyll. This must have been erected before 1843.

Duncan, Peter and John emigrated to Canada in 1831, 1843, and 1843 respectively, and settled in Lobo Township, Donald stayed in Scotland, while there is no information on Archie or on Anne's three sisters. Considerable family tree information is available on the Duncan and Peter families and some on John's.

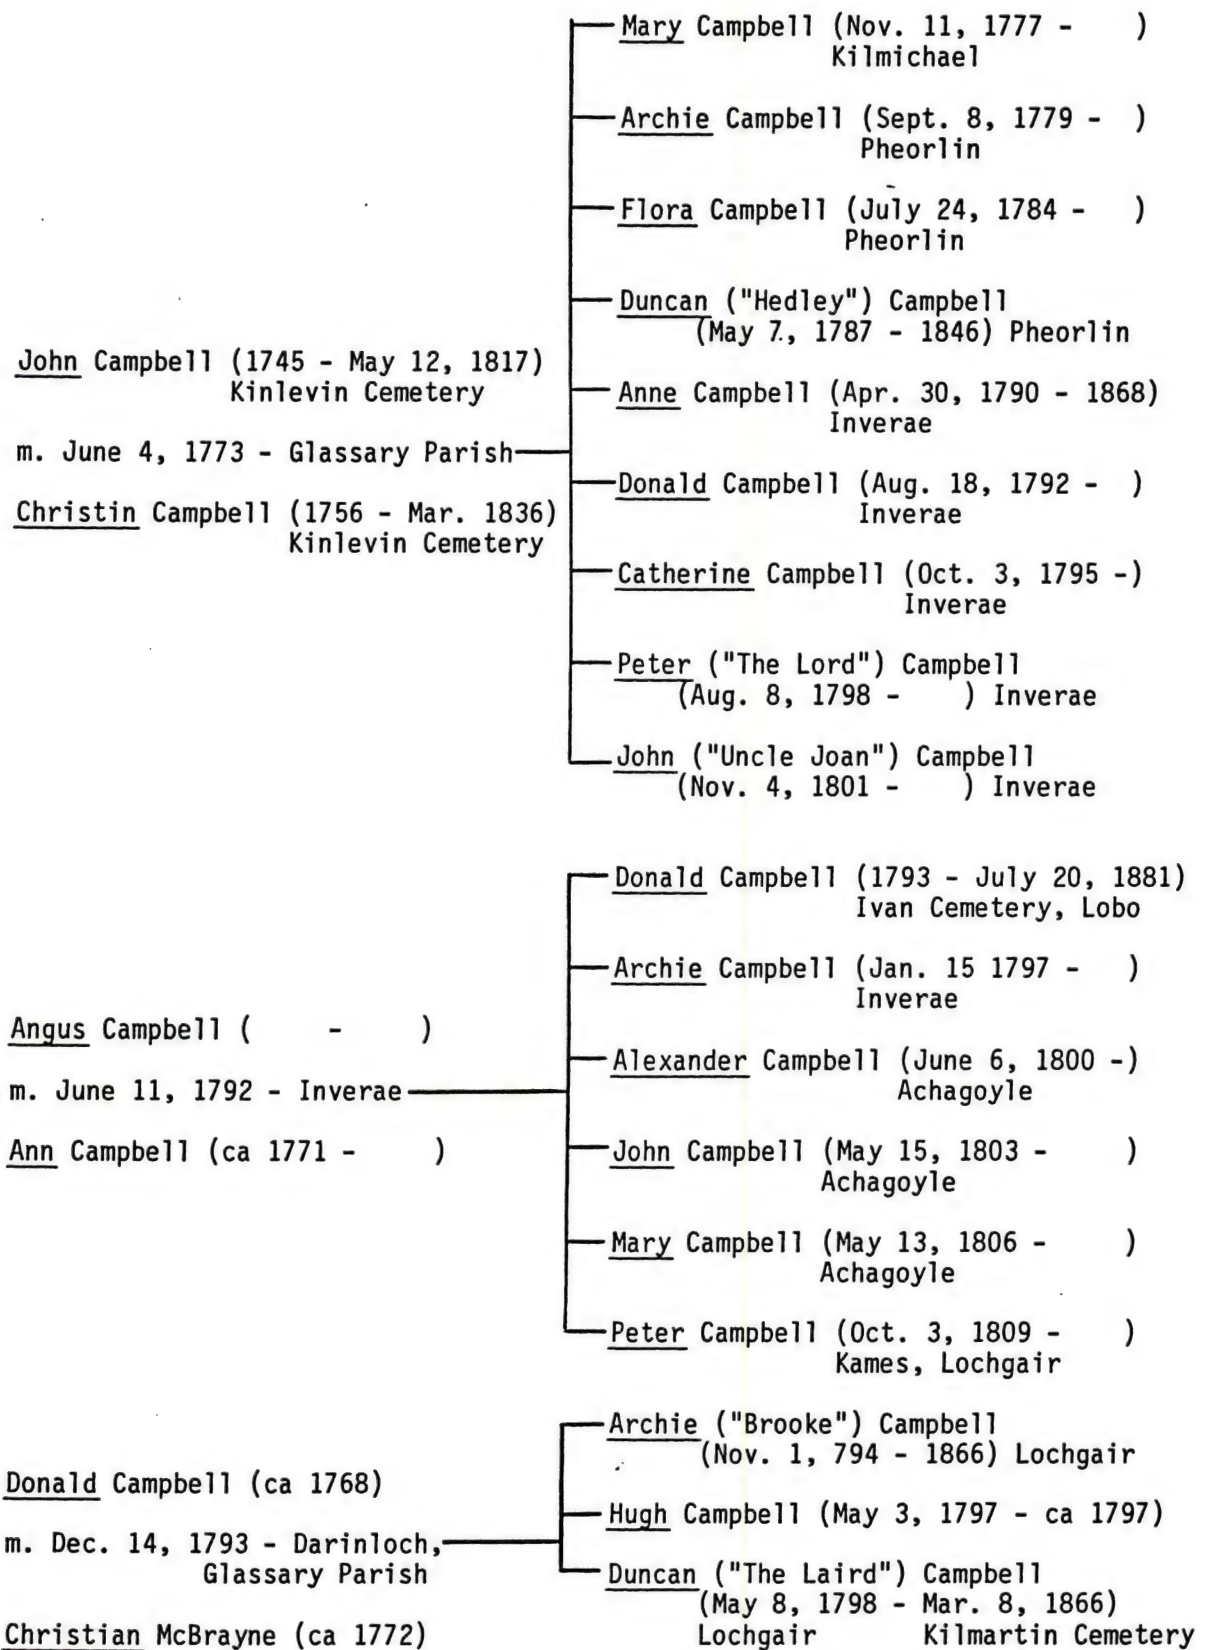

There are two other Campbell families that are related to Anne, although the exact relationships have not been established. These are also shown in Tree 3. The Angus-Ann family is known as the "Bahn" Campbells. It is claimed that Angus was originally a McIvor or a McVicar and that later he changed his name to Campbell. Hence the blood relationship to Anne (Campbell) Walker is through this Ann and not through Angus. Donald and Alexander, sons of Ann and Angus, emigrated to Canada in the 1829-30 period and settled in Lobo Township.

The third related family is that of Donald Campbell and Christian McBrayne. Their son, Hugh, died young but both Archie and Duncan emigrated to Canada - Archie to Brooke Township, Lambton County in 1843, and Duncan to Mosa Township, Middlesex County in 1831. The family tree for Duncan "The Laird" was published in 1981 and the one for Archie "Brooke" will be published in 1988.

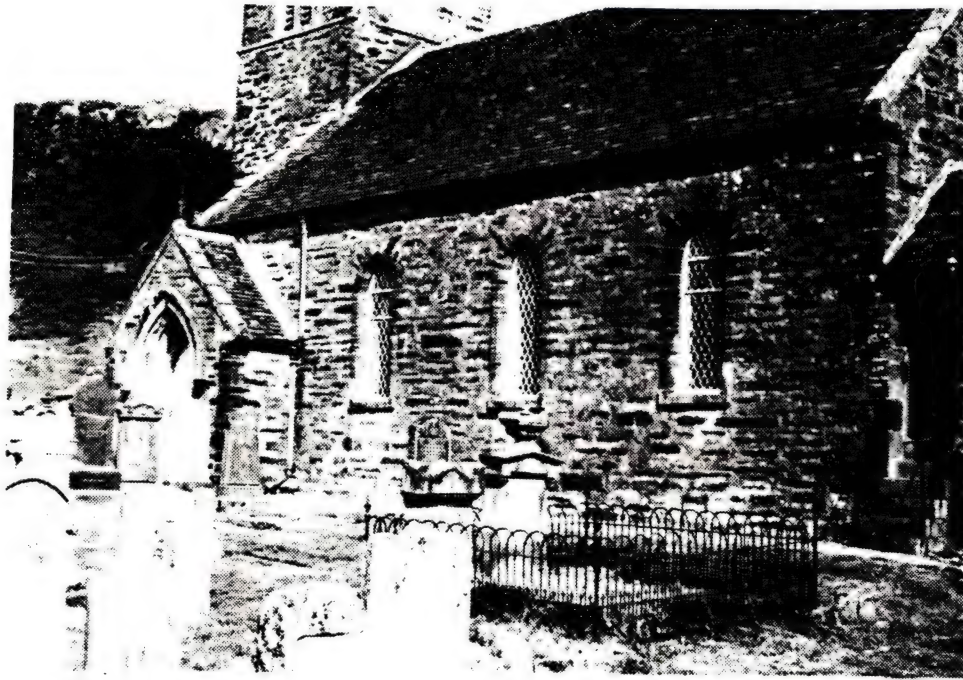

It is certain that all three of these families are related since family reunions for their descendants were held from 1922 to about 1942. While the relationships have not been proven, it is very probable that Christian, Ann and Donald were siblings, which would mean that Anne (Campbell) Walker, Archie "Brooke" and Donald "Bahn" were first cousins. Further research may prove this.

The Leitch Family Connection

William Leitch and Catherine Leitch from Dalnagarran, Argyll, Scotland, were the parents of:

- (1) Hugh Leitch (1787 - 1858)
- (2) Lachlan Leitch (1793 - 1863)
- (3) Euphemia Leitch (1795 - 1868)
- (4) Catherine/Kate Leitch (1799 - 1879)

all of whom are connected with the Walker Family.

Hugh Leitch married Sarah Campbell (1789 - 1865) and their daughters married into the Walker family -- Sarah Leitch married Archibald Walker (Line I, Walker Book); Mizie Leitch married John Walker (Line II, Walker Book). Another daughter, Catherine, married Neil Munro and their son, William, married Annie Walker (Line VII (1), Walker Book). Their grandson, Angus McDougall, married Myzie (Marjorie) Walker (Line II (3)(b), Walker Book).

Lachlan Leitch married Elizabeth/Liza McLarty (1799 - 1859). Their daughter, Eliza, married William Gow: their daughter, Sarah, married Colin L. Walker (Line II (9)).

Euphemia Leitch married Neil McCallum (1787 - 1876) and their daughter, Sarah, married Colin Walker (Line VI, Walker Book).

Catherine Leitch married Duncan Mitchell (1795 - 1875). Their granddaughter, Catherine McLarty, married William Walker (Line II (8), Walker Book). Another granddaughter, Effie Mitchell, married Hugh Walker (Line II (6), Walker Book). Their grandson, William Robertson, married Euphemia Walker (Line VII (6), Walker Book).

There are several "double" cousins in the Walker Book as a result of the above marriages.

It is also noteworthy that the Leitch-Walker-Mitchell-Munro families were founders of the Kilmartin Presbyterian Church, Mosa Township.

JAMES WALKER

James Walker and his wife, Nancy (Anne), came to Canada in 1830 from Argyllshire, Scotland. They started life on wild land, being among the early settlers of Middlesex County.

James was the son of John Campbell, the Walker, and Isabella McCaill, who came to Canada with James and his family. She was in her 72nd year when she arrived.

Nancy (Anne) was the daughter of James Campbell and Christine Campbell, and a first cousin of Duncan "Laird" Campbell, who lived on the north half of Lot 2, Concession 8 in Mosa Township, about three miles from where James and Nancy Anne lived.

James and Nancy (Anne) were the parents of seven children: Archibald; John; Duncan; Euphemia; Isabelle; Colin; and Dugald.

In 1847, James received a Crown Grant from Col. Thomas Talbot for 100 acres of land situated on the northerly half of Lot 18, Concession 12, Township of Metcalfe. Along with the Land Grant, a settler would get 1 pound of flour, 12 pounds of pork, a spade, hoe, handsaw, building tools, ploughshare and four lanterns.

In 1859, he purchased an additional 100 acres of land for $225.00 situated on the north west half of Lot 16, Concession 12, Township of Metcalfe.

Archibald emigrated from Scotland with his parents, grandmother, brothers and sisters, in 1830 to a farm in Metcalfe Township. Later he took up a farm at S $\frac{1}{2}$, Lot 19, Concession 12 Metcalfe where he spent the rest of his life and where he died. Politically, he was a staunch Reformer, and held the office of assessor of the Township of Metcalfe for a number of years.

Sarah Leitch was born in Scotland, but her birth record has not been found. She may have been born in Kilmartin Parish where the records for that period are missing. Some of her siblings were born in Glassary Parish, so she probably was also born there. Sarah and her parents, Hugh Leitch and Sarah Campbell, emigrated from Glassary Parish, Argyll, to their pioneer Metcalfe farm in 1830. Hugh's parents were William Leitch and Catherine Leitch of Kilmuchanoch, Glassary Parish. Sarah was a sister of Mizie who married John Walker (II). There are many other inter-relations between Sarah and Mizie and other pioneer families who emigrated from Argyll and settled in the Mosa-Metcalfe area, together with James and Nancy Walker.

After marriage, Isabella moved to the pioneer Campbell farm, now the A. W. Campbell Conservation Authority.

Neil Campbell, son of John Campbell and Isabelle McLean, was born on Baryle farm, Glassary Parish, Argyll (baptized on May 5, 1830) In 1857, Neil, along with his widowed mother, two uncles, Donald and Neil, and several brothers and sisters emigrated to Ontario. One brother, Malcolm, emigrated to Australia and became a wealthy farmer. It is interesting to note that the Kilmartin Parish (Argyll) kirk session record has the following entry - "they have uniformly maintained an irreproachable character and that they were leaving the parish free of scandal and grounds of censure, dated June 8, 1857."

Neil became known locally as "Jamaica" Neil, while his son Archie, the founder of A. W. Campbell Conservation Area, was known as "UFO" Archie, Archie "Buck" and Archie "Jamaica".

Known locally as Archie "Jamaica", Archie "Buck" or "UFO" Archie to distinguish him from all the other Archie Campbell's, he was an avid conservationist and on his death, willed the family farm to become a park and to be known as "A. W. Campbell Conservation Area".

 b. 27 Feb 1843 b. 1850
 d. 15 Apr 1909 d. 1926

Hugh Walker acquired his education in the old log school house of his native township, and spent his early life upon the homestead farm, learning the lessons of thrift and industry, which were to prove of so much material benefit to him later on in life. In 1869, he purchased a farm of 129 acres in Plympton township, it being the east three-quarters of Lot 24, 15th Concession, and moved upon it the following year. For thirty-five years he was a continuous resident of the township, and improved his property until it ranked among the best in the County of Lambton.

Hugh married Rachel Elizabeth Bell, a daughter of James and Ann (Stonehouse) Bell, and to this union was born five children.

Colin grew up on the old homestead in Metcalfe, where he learned the carpenter's trade, in conjunction with farming, which he carried on for some time. In 1884 he settled on his farm located on Concession 9, Lot 18, Brooke Township, of 100 acres, which was, at that time, nearly all wild land, but he cleared it up and had one of the best places in Brooke. He first lived in a log house, making it his home until 1898, when he erected a fine brick house, barns and out buildings.

Colin married Miss Annie McBride, daughter of Duncan and Mary (McCallen) McBride of Elgin County. They always lived in the brick home constructed in 1898.

Religiously the family were members of the Presbyterian Church, in which Colin was a trustee, and was on the committee on church work in Brooke Township for years, and later was appointed elder in the church. Politically he was a Reformer, and filled the office of school trustee for several terms.

Mizia grew up on the pioneer family farm in Metcalfe Township and after her marriage, she and Jim lived in Walker's, where Jim built the store and ran it for a number of years. They then moved to Mosa where Jim ran the store at Ferguson's Crossing (Shields Siding) until his death. Mizie died from pneumonia and Jim died a few weeks afterwards, probably as a result of the pneumonia he also had at the time Mizia died.

In the fall of 1906, Jack left Ontario on a "harvesters' excursion train" and readily found work in the western farm fields on the Soo Line. Farming was an entirely new experience after having always lived in a city. In the spring of 1907, he came to the Ogema district, Saskatchewan, and filed on S.W. 32-7-22 and later on his pre-emption S.E. 31-7-22.

Jack MacPhail married Emma Richardson in 1911 in her home in the Thorndyke district. Her wedding flowers were a bouquet consisting of "prairie roses" that had a lovely aroma. Emma had come west from Dunboyme, Ontario, in 1906 with her parents, John and Sarah Richardson, four brothers and one sister. Three of Emma's brothers, George, John and Richard (Dick) Richardson all had homesteads in the Thorndyke district, Saskatchewan.

Lloyd left school and home to "ride-the-rods" in northern Saskatchewan and worked at cutting trees, logs and worked on various farms. When World War II broke out, he enlisted in the South Saskatchewan Regiment in Weyburn in 1940. After some training, the Second Division left for active service in December, 1940, on the ship named "Penland". In England they received more training and active service and participated in the Dieppe Raid where a great many of their comrades were lost.

Lloyd purchased the N $\frac{1}{2}$ 29-7-22 in 1946 and worked in the mines at Flin Flon that winter.

Lloyd married Grace Leguee, daughter of Russell and Winnifred Leguee of Dahinda in 1947. Grace was a former school teacher at Queerin and Mount Joy School. Lloyd worked on the patrol for Key West R. M. for several years and purchased the S½ 29-7-22.

Euphemia emigrated from Scotland with her parents, grandmother, brothers and sister, in 1830.

Archibald, nicknamed "Redhouse" because he lived in a red brick house in Mosa Township, was the son of Neil Munro and Ann McPherson. He was born on Dunans farm, North Knapdale Parish, Argyll, and emigrated with the family to Southwold Township in 1828 when he was 9 years old. After Archie and Euphemia were married and after several children were born on their Southwold farm, they moved to their farm in Mosa Township in 1853 or 1854.

Archie was a brother of Mary Munro who married Duncan Walker (III), and of Sheriff Colin Munro, a prominent Elgin citizen after whose wife Alma College in St. Thomas was named.

Colin emigrated from Scotland with his parents, grandmother, brothers and sisters, in 1830 to a farm in Metcalfe Township.

In July 1847, just as Colin turned 19 years of age, he purchased 100 acres of land in Metcalfe Township; the northerly half of Lot 19 on Concession 12. Colin and Sarah married in 1856, and eight children were born of this union before Sarah died following childbirth complications.

Archie Walker left Forest, Ontario, in 1881, with his father, Colin, at the age of 16, grew up, bought land, and at the age of 33 married. The 80 acres, where his entire family was born, has been in the family name since then, being honored as a century farm. Archie died in 1930 of a massive stroke. Mary Elizabeth helped many people in need during the next 31 years. Much of the genealogy of Colin Walker line was started and kept by her, and passed down to her grandson, Donald Conkey, via her daughter, Christine Margaret (Walker) Conkey.

Stanley Wills told of the winter evenings spent as a child in the farm home of his parents. Besides doing their school work, their father, Joseph, would also instruct them and give advice. With his six sons and two daughters sitting with him around the dinner table and the wood stove, he would tell them that when they grew up, they would probably see some hard times but, whatever they did, they should always be honest.

 b. 16 June 1845
 d. 6 Oct 1937

With six children, 13 years or younger, it was necessary for Colin to have help in raising his young family. Colin married Catherine Patterson soon afterwards and from this union another five children were born. The youngest was born when Colin was 60 years old, and with Catherine 17 years his junior, being 43 at the time of the last birth.

Soon after the birth of James Colin Walker to this new marriage, Colin sold his 100 acres in Ontario and took his young family to Sheridan Township, Huron County, Michigan. In 1883 Colin purchased 160 acres of land in Sheridan Township and built his home. Colin died on the family farm and was buried in the Elkland Cemetery, Cass City Michigan. His second wife, Catherine, lived for another 36 years on the farm, died there October 6, 1937, and is buried along side her husband.

Mrs. Mary (McIntyre) Walker lived all her married life on a farm located on Lot 18, Concession 12, Metcalfe Township. She was left a widow with seven to raise and protect, but with heroic courage which never failed, and radiant faith in the God that never forsakes the widow and the orphan in their affliction, she persevered and trained her family in the practice of virtue, industry and thrift, to become useful members of society.

HISTORY OF THE HAMLET OF WALKERS

About the year 1830, and succeeding years, a number of families left their native land, Argyllshire, Scotland, and emigrated to "Canada West", settling in the townships of Mosa, Metcalfe, Ekfrid, and Brooke, these townships at that time being almost an unbroken forest.

Among these settlers was James Walker, his wife, Nancy, his mother, Isabella McCaill, age 72, James' children, who are detailed in this book, and his brother Neil and family.

By 1856, the following properties were owned by James Walker and/or his children:

100 acres - N $\frac{1}{2}$ of Lot 18, Concession 12*, Township of Metcalfe
 100 acres - NW $\frac{1}{2}$ of Lot 16, Concession 12*, Township of Metcalfe
 100 acres - S $\frac{1}{2}$ of Lot 19, Concession 12*, Township of Metcalfe
 100 acres - NW $\frac{1}{2}$ of Lot 17, Concession 13*, Township of Metcalfe
 100 acres - N $\frac{1}{2}$ of Lot 18, Concession 13*, Township of Metcalfe
 100 acres - N $\frac{1}{2}$ of Lot 17, Concession 13*, Township of Metcalfe
 100 acres - N $\frac{1}{2}$ of Lot 19, Concession 12*, Township of Metcalfe
 100 acres - N $\frac{1}{2}$ of Lot 19, Concession 13*, Township of Metcalfe

The Church

In 1835 or 1836, a small log church was built in the Township of Metcalfe, somewhere in the present Kilmartin Cemetery grounds. This church was never completed, being without doors, windows or roof. For seats, the worshippers sat upon the sleepers and listened reverently and with deep interest to the messages of God's Holy Word, even on the coldest and stormiest days of winter.² In 1862, land was purchased from Donald McNichol for the erection of the present Burn's Presbyterian Church.

Services were conducted in Gaelic at 11 a.m., followed by an English service at 12 o'clock.

At the 11 a.m. service, the Lord's Prayer would be repeated thus:

"Ar n-Athair a tha air nèamh: gu naomhaichear d'ainm.
 Thigeadh do rìoghachd. Deanar do thoil air an talamh mar anithear air nèamh.
 Tabhair dhuinn an diugh ar n-aran lathail.
 Agus maith dhuinn ar fiachan, amhuil mar a mhaitheas sinne d'ar luchd-fiach.
 Agus na leig 'am buaireadh sinn, ach saor sinn o olc.
 Oir is leatso an rìoghachd agus an cumhachd agus
 a' ghlòir gu sìorruidh." ³

Schools

The first log school was build in 1855. The only record of the school is found in a song written by Dan Mitchell. The school was built on the south side of the road on Concession 13, on the little knoll across from the store which is still standing there today. Fields were not fenced then, so the school stood on common ground. A second school was built on the present corner of Lot 20, Concession 13, and was a cottage with a verandah around it.

Later a bigger school was required, because by 1876, 120 pupils attended the second school. When the trustees discussed selling the old school, it was revealed that Archibald Walker had loaned the land for the school as long as it was used for education. Then it was to return to him. So the land, comprising about $\frac{1}{4}$ acres was returned to Archibald Walker. He rented the cottage to Mr. McPherson from Napier. This building became the first General Store in Walkers, but was later sold and became a residence. Railway hands frequently resided there.

In 1915, Colin C. Munro owned the house and lived there with his family. Shortly after his death, a room of the house was rented to the Home Bank.

In 1866, the Temperance Lyceum was started in the old school. Meetings were held once a month, and people came a long way to attend meetings. Later on, the meetings were held in the new school, and one meeting was held at Burn's Church in Kilmartin.

The new school was built in 1876 across the corner (east corner of Lot 21, Concession 12). It had 120 students, as the school section included Concessions 9 to 14, from 16 sideroad to present day Highway 80. Dan Mitchell's song tells of the happenings at the school and the names of all the teachers who taught there. Dan Mitchell lived on the south half of Lot 19, Concession 13 and was a poet and a songwriter. Some called him a minstrel, as he travelled to various homes with a tuning fork and sang for the people in their homes. He is said to have driven about the countryside with a desk in his wagon, and when he had an idea, he'd stop the buggy and write it down.

School fairs, Christmas concerts and dances were community events held at the school. Sunday School was held in the building from May 1 to November.

In 1898, the construction of #17 School, on today's Highway #80, took a number of pupils from Walkers. In 1910, S.S.#14 Metcalfe was built, further reducing the number of Walkers' students.

The Bank

As indicated previously, upon the death of Colin C. Munro, a room of his home was rented to the Home Bank.

Around 1920, two bankers would come from Melbourne on the train, three days a week, to conduct business in the Home Bank. In 1923, the Home Bank went broke. People lost money, and banks lost their credibility in the eyes of many. Following the collapse of the Home Bank, the building became a residence again, and remained as such until it was dismantled.

The Railway

The Canadian Southern Railway was built in 1870-1871. The surveyor was Mr. Courtright who, with his crew, boarded at the Walker farm for one year. The Town of Courtright was named after him.

The railway land was purchased for $65. an acre. The community took up a subscription to buy three acres of land for a railway station so they would get a switch and station at Wakers. The station burned in 1908 or 1909 and a smaller station was built on Concession 13.

Mr. John Preece was section foreman at the turn of the century. The help got 9¢ per hour, or 90¢ a day. One day, a wandering pig was seen going in the railway property. Mr. Preece asked one of the boys to keep it out. He went after it at a modest rate, and Mr. Preece shouted, "Run!". The workman replied, "I'm not getting running wages!"

Stockyards were located at the station. Cattle, lambs and pigs were loaded there. As many as 12 carloads were shipped per week. There was a chute to load the double-decked cars with lambs. Grain elevators, for loading grain, were located across the tracks from the station. Many loads of sugar beets were shipped. Rolls of fencing were brought to Walkers by Dave Munro to be sold to local farmers. Baled hay and sawn lumber was shipped as well.

Mail Delivery

Mail delivery started when the railway was finished. Mail used to go from Walkers to Kilmartin. Around this time, the name "Glen" was dropped from the Hamlet's name and it simply became "Walkers".

Store

A general store was built near the railway by James Grieve. A livestock scale was located across the road from Grieve's store. It was a large general store containing an excellent assortment of goods. Grieve retired in the early 20th Century. He sold the store to Mr. J. Turner, who lived there from 1908 until the store burned shortly afterward.

Meanwhile, Jim McBride had built the general store which still stands in Walkers. He sold the store to J. Turner, after Turner's store burned, and moved to Brooke Township. John McFarlane bought the store from J. Turner in 1910; Alex McCallum bought it in 1912; then Dan Patterson in 1913. A year later, in 1914, Jim Denning bought it, only to sell it in 1919 to Stewart McCallum. In 1925, Neil Munro bought the store and ran it for 25 years. Fred Gough purchased the store in 1950. The Gough family was the last one to run the general store.

Post Office

The Post Office closed in 1968 (see article "Walkers Post Office Closes"). It had been in Grieve's store, then it was moved to McBride's. Mail was sent on the three trains which passed through Walkers daily. Up until 1914, people came to the Post Office to get their mail; then two rural routes were started. R.R.#1 was run by Archie McCallum, and R.R.#2 by Mr. Thompson. Billy Angus McCallum's mother took the route from 1918 to 1922. From 1926 until 1986, the McCallum family has delivered mail for R.R.#2, Walkers, now R.R.#2, Glencoe.

Blacksmith

A blacksmith's shop had been erected on the south corner of the crossroads on the north half of Lot 21, Concession 13. The building was owned by the McIntyre family, but the blacksmith's shop was run by Mr. Bolton, a jolly Irishman. The necessity of a blacksmith's shop to the community meant that it was one of the first businesses established.

Sawmill

A sawmill was run by the Richardson family from Kerwood. It was steam-powered and did a bustling business. Lumber was loaded on cars at the switch on the three-corner piece of land. The sawmill burned in the summer of 1910.

Telephone

In the early years of this century, the Elliot brothers, Dr. Elliot of Napier and Mr. J. E. Elliot, a lawyer from Glencoe, built a private telephone line between these two places. This link ran on the Mosa townline past Kilmartin, through Walkers and on to Napier. Quite a few farms along the way had the telephone installed.

Hydro

In the middle 1920's, the hydro line was put through the middle of the hamlet. It was 10 to 12 years prior to Rural Hydro which started in 1938.

The Committee preparing "The Descendants of James Walker and Nancy/Ann Campbell" acknowledge that a majority of this "History of the Hamlet of Walker" was taken from a paper, given in February, 1986, at Kilmartin Church, by Flora Walker as part of her program for the Glencoe and District Historical Society. She received assistance from John Hugh Walker, her uncle; Mrs. Donalda (Colin A.) Walker; Mrs. Iola Munro; Mrs. Adele Luther; Mrs. Mary Towers; and Mr. Gordon Ferguson. We are grateful for her co-operation in allowing us to include this history in our book.

SECTION NUMBER FOUR SONG

by Donald Mitchell
 January 31st, 1889
 Walkers, Ontario, Canada

Attention, friends and neighbours all
 In Section Number Four,
 I hope my song is not too long,
 So hearken now once more,
 And educate the children all
 In Section Number Four;
 But don't neglect to teach them how
 The Saviour to adore.

CHORUS

Then educate the children all
 In Section Number Four;
 Yes, teach them how to read and write
 And cipher, more and more;
 But don't neglect to teach them now
 The Saviour to adore;
 For without this, they'll ne'er see bliss,
 Or pleasures evermore.

As in this section I was taught
 At first my A, B, C,
 It may not be amiss for me
 To write its history;
 Well, Jackson was the first who taught
 In Section Number Four.
 How many years ago since that?
 'Tis thirty years and four. CHORUS

When Jackson left us, Strachan came
 To teach us more and more:
 No scribbling desks, but learning tasks
 In Section Number Four:
 And after him came Duncan Dewar,
 I yet think of the day
 He heard the noise among the boys,
 And stopped it, right away. CHORUS

And who came next, to get us fixed?
 But Duncan McIntyre:
 No M.D. these had he 'mong men,
 But now he's that much higher.
 The old log school-house held them all,
 And sent them all away,
 To welcome them no more again,
 From these unto this day. CHORUS

The new school-house came next in use,
 And Ellen Duncan came
 To teach us more than those before,
 Who tried to've done the same:
 And when she left us, Fletcher then
 From Ekfrid came to teach:
 He seemed to've been a Christian man
 Who sought the good of each. CHORUS

And after Fletcher left us here,
 Who next in order came?
 But Alec Leitch, the school to teach,
 In that same house of frame;
 And by that time I also taught
 A school in Mosa too
 Though then so young, this is the song
 I've now to sing to you. CHORUS

Continuing the history of Section Number Four.
 When Alex Leitch ceased here to teach,
 And left like those before;
 Who after him then taught the school,
 In 1860 here?
 I know quite well, Donald Mitchell,
 On that and the next year. CHORUS

And when I taught in Number Five
 And there was wages more;
 The Duncan Leitch came on to teach
 In Section Number Four.
 And if my song is not too long,
 I'll tell you of some more
 Who after Leitch did knowledge teach,
 Then left, like those before. CHORUS

Now if my memory serves me right
 'Bout Section Number Four
 Ere teacher Bright showed there his light
 McAlpine Neil showed more;
 And after Bright went out of sight,
 They had Dougald McNeil;
 And D. McAlpine after him.
 The Section's lack to fill. CHORUS

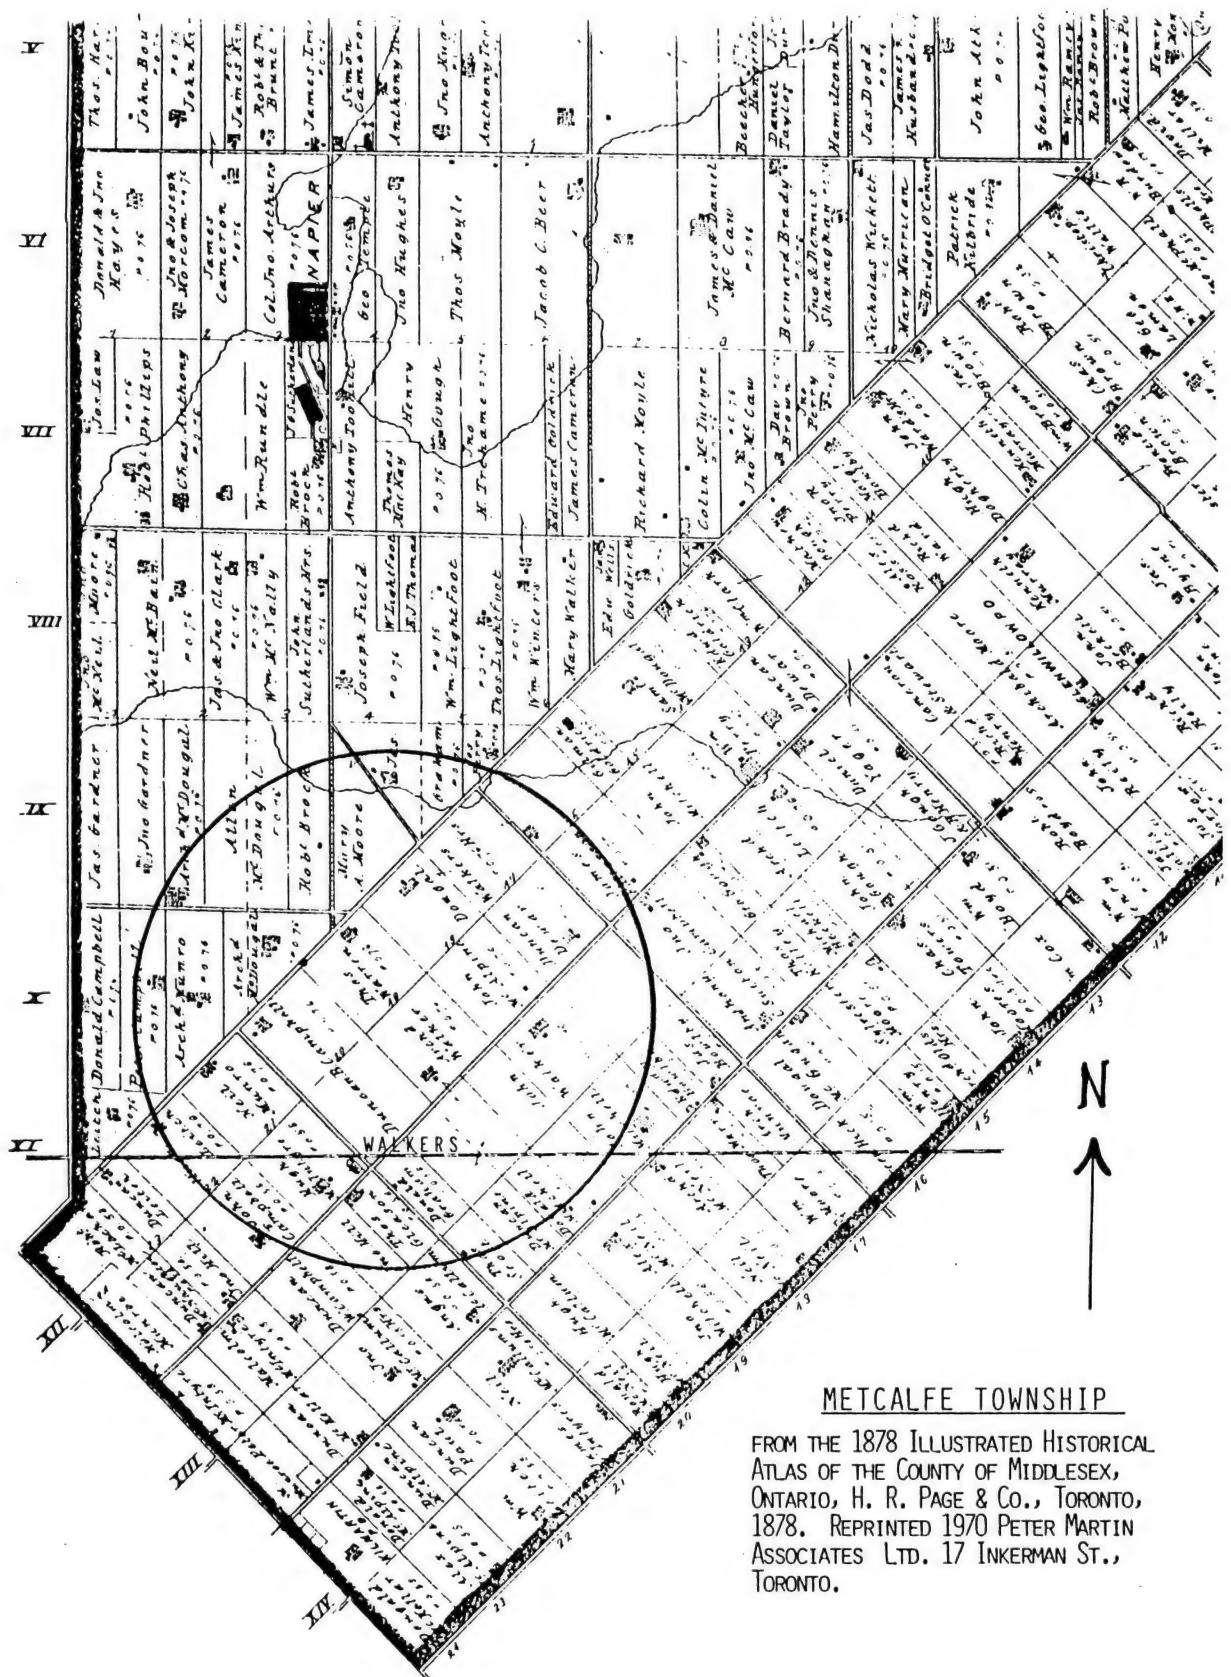

Soon ends my song, James Ross and Brock
 Did teach in Section Four;
 McVicar too came next in view,
 And taught the children more.
 Who came again? 'twas A. McLean,
 Who kept them to the laws;
 And then Shrapnell, the truth I tell,
 For that's the way it was. CHORUS

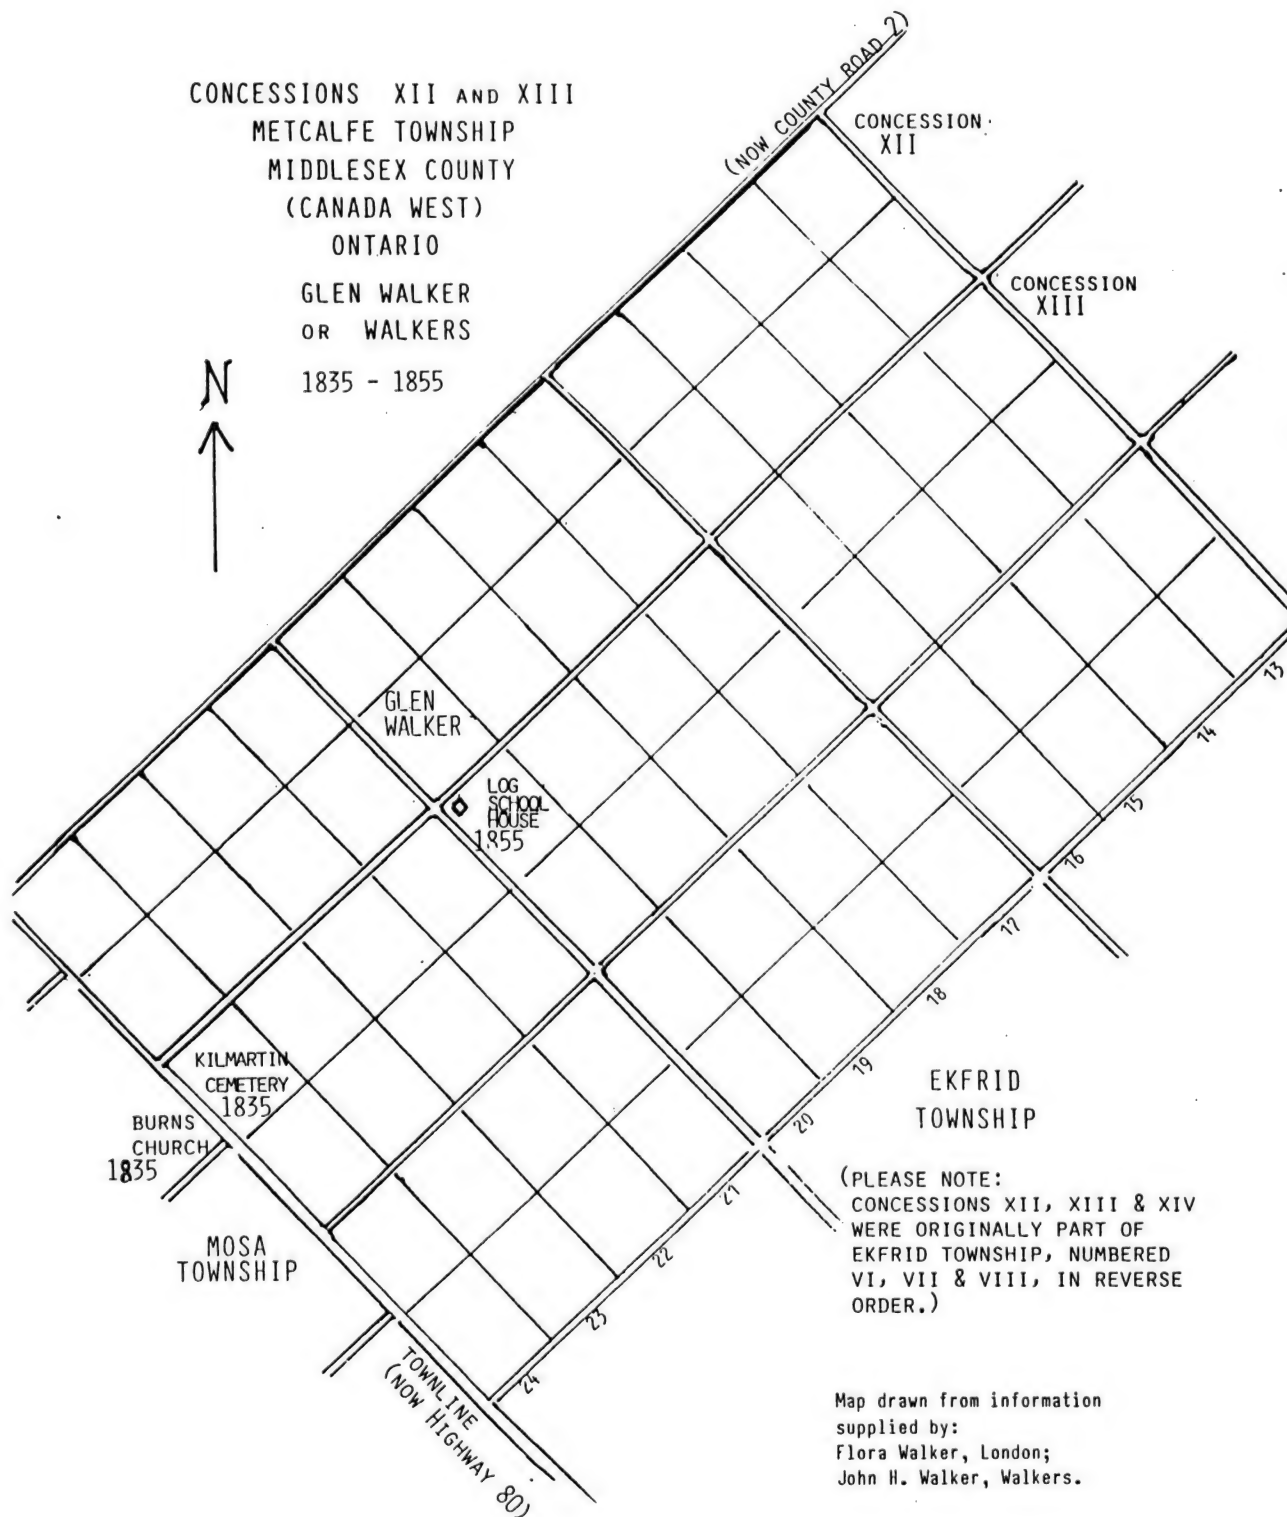

When Shrapnell left us, Rogers came,
A young man from Napier,
And sinners tried their names to hide
By his vile "Quiz-box" here;
D. Sinclair came right after him,
And then came young Hugh Leitch.
I hope he may, from day to day,
In Number Four will teach. CHORUS

FINAL LINK WITH AREA HISTORY SEVERED AS WALKERS POST OFFICE CLOSES

The old fashioned verandah across the front of the store sags a little at both ends now and the weather-worn wood shows through in places.

The Red and White Stores sign of the early 30s has gone and Coca-Cola replaces Salada Tea on the front window.

Structurally, though, the old store hasn't changed much in 50 years and the same blue and white enameled POST OFFICE sign hangs over the entrance.

Inside, neat rows of heavily painted shelving have survived the years a little better, but they were emptied of merchandise months ago.

An old brass balance still sways, occasionally, to the remaining trickle of letters and parcels. Postal revenue last year totalled $284.69.

Nobody remembers now the building of Walker General Store, Metcalfe Township.

Today, it all became part of the past -- the last enterprise in a once busy little Middlesex County hamlet.

"It's the way of the time," Postmistress Mrs. Janet Gough said firmly, in a tone suggestive of her earlier career as a public school teacher.

"Country stores just can't compete against the big chains. It isn't anything to complain about. It's just the way of the times. Centralization."

The Goughs bought the store in 1950 from the Neil Munros, now of Alvinston, and Fred Gough became postmaster.

"Things got a little tougher for us every year," Mrs. Gough said.

She operated the post office and store while her husband supplemented a dwindling business income with a job in the Middlesex County Roads Department.

When he died of a heart attack in 1965, postal officials offered Mrs. Gough the job of postmistress.

"They said I could have it as long as I wanted," she said. "Otherwise the post office would be closed."

Mrs. Gough suspended the store business last December and tendered her resignation as postmistress.

"I didn't want to carry on alone."

Postal service officially ended after business hours on April 30. Now she will move to London to live with her daughter, a University of Western Ontario student.

Things were different when the Goughs took over 18 years ago, a little more reminiscent of the old days.

Any night of the week, the store would be filled with blue smoke, manly laughter and debate.

"We used to stay open until everyone went home," Mrs. Gough recalled. "Our main business was done from 6 o'clock to midnight."

The habitués gathered there to argue politics or listen to a hockey game on the radio while they drank pop, puffed on their cigarettes and pipes and flailed the thickening air with opinion and comment.

There was a compulsive whittler in the group -- one of the Walkers -- and an unpainted, discoloured step stool in the store still bears the marks of his industry. Among Mrs. Gough's keepsakes is a wooden chain he carved from a solid block of walnut.

At nomination and election time, the store was crowded. "There were lots of arguments," Mrs. Gough remembered, "and sometimes it got hot and heavy."

Finally, the Goughs had to close their doors against the nightly gatherings. "It was," the postmistress said, "one of the bad things about a country store. We couldn't take the late hours."

The rural route mailing list at Walkers Post Office still reads like a pioneer history -- seven Walkers, four Leitches, three Campbells, two Dewars, several McCallums -- all names from the settlement's Highland origins.

Mr. and Mrs. Colin A. Walker remember the "boom" days better than most.

Mr. Walker still farms 130 acres a mile east of the cross-roads, part of the Crown land grant to his grandfather in 1956. The first settler, James Walker, came in 1831 and raised a large family.

"It was called Glenwalkers in those days," Mrs. Walker contributed. Her family, the Campbells, were among the pioneer stock.

"They changed the name because the mail was sometimes confused with a place called Glenwaters just north of here," she explained.

As far back as her husband could recall, there had been two general stores at the crossroads.

"They were probably there shortly after the railway went through in 1871," he said. "I think the oil boom at Petrolia helped bring the spur line through."

The St. Thomas to Courtright line ended Walkers' days of travel and mail delivery by stagecoach from Strathroy and gave the hamlet its commercial impetus.

At the turn of the century, the community had two stores, a large stock yard, a grain elevator, two trains a day each way and a population of about 35.

"The area west of here was quite thickly populated," Mr. Walker added. "There were families on every hundred acres."

The biggest livestock drover in the community was a McLaughlin. "It was nothing for him to buy and ship 10 carloads a week," Mr. Walker said.

The beginning of the end, he believes, came with the automobile age. "The trucks were responsible for taking the railroad out."

It was "more convenient" for area farmers to ship by truck, he explained. And while the shipping cost was "about the same, I think," by truck or train, the trucks reached "a variety of markets."

When Michigan Central pulled up the tracks, five or six years ago, it was only tangible confirmation of what had already happened to the hamlet.

The last train had pulled out of the station 10 years earlier. Sugar beets vanished from surrounding fields 25 years before.

The Home Bank "went broke" in 1923 adding to the economic woes of those who kept their savings in the hamlet's only bank branch.

Walkers schoolhouse was moved several years ago to Newbury where a bus company now uses the building for maintenance work.

Duncan McNaughton was among the school's later graduates and he remembers the early 20s when he and other Walkers students made daily trips by train to Alvinston High School.

Mr. McNaughton left the hamlet in 1924 for business opportunities in Detroit and Toronto. When he retired as a heating contractor three years ago, he returned to Walkers.

Now, he lives in the same white frame corner house his father re-possessed from a buyer when the Home Bank collapsed 45 years ago.

Mr. McNaughton is one of four householders left in the hamlet. They are the last patrons of Walkers post office and, for most of them, the last link with the past has been a relatively short one.

Mrs. Edward Wilson, whose home stands on the former bank branch site, could raise no sentiment for the old general store, although she occasionally tended it while Mrs. Gough was away.

"We've only been here 20 years," she pointed out.

The Leroy Parkers and their three children moved here less than a year ago from Strathroy.

Mr. and Mrs. D. K. McCallum built a house last year on the northwest corner, the former schoolyard.

Yes, her husband was a lifelong resident, Mrs. McCallum said, but he was away most days on electrical contracting business. Her own memories lay several concessions away.

The residents still collect their mail at the old store but they were being lured away by the "bargains" of supermarket shopping in Glencoe, six miles southwest, long before its shelves were emptied.

It was the "old settlers" along the rural route who clung to their loyalties.

"We always bought as much as we could at the store," one Walker farmstader said.

When the rumor of the post office closing spread, it was the rural patrons who petitioned postal officials to leave their route intact with service out of Glencoe rather than Alvinston.

They also asked officials to retain their long-time postal courier, Billy Angus (W.A.) McCallum.

The McCallums had been the life of the community 40 years ago.

Billy Angus, D. K. and their five brothers were "quite a ball team" in the district league of the day, according to Mrs. Gough. In the winter time, they teamed up as a dramatic society and put on plays in the school house.

The youngest, Gordon "Doc" McCallum, is postmaster at Appin, eight miles southeast. Billy Angus and D. K. are the last of the clan at Walkers.

Customer relations along the rural route have altered since the early days.

"People don't complain as much," Mrs. Gough said. "It used to be the mailman was expected to get through no matter what the weather. He would take a horse, if necessary, or walk."

"It's sad to leave in a way," she said. "The people in the country are unhappy about the rural post offices closing. They got better service."

FOR HE WAS SCOTS AND SO WAS SHE

They were a couple well content
With what they earned and what they spent,
Cared not a whit for style's decree
For he was Scots -- and so was she!

And oh, they loved to talk of Burns,
Dear, blithesome, tender Robbie Burns;
They never wearied of his song,
He never sang a note too strong,
One little fault could neither see
For he was Scots -- and so was she!

They loved to read of men who stood,
And gave for country, life and blood,
Who held their faith so dear a thing,
They scorned to yield it to a king;
Oh, proud of such they well might be --
For he was Scots -- and so was she!

From neighbors' broils they kept away;
And oh, each had a canny mind;
Each could be deaf, and dumb, and blind!
Of words -- or pence -- were none to free --
For he was Scots -- and so was she!

I would not have you think this pair
Went on in weather always fair;
For, well, you know, in married life
Will come sometimes the jar and strife;
They couldn't always just agree
For he was Scots -- and so was she!

But near of heart they ever kept,
Until at close of life they slept;
Just this to say when all was past,
They loved each other till the last.
They're living yet, in Heaven, maybe,
For he was Scots -- and so was she!

OUR NEW YEAR'S GREETING

Old Scotch Song

A guid New Year to ans and a'
And money may ye see,
And during a' the years to come
A' happy may ye be,
And may ye ne'er has cause to mourn,
To sigh or shed a tear
To ane and a' braith great and sma'
A hearty guid New Year.

OUR SURNAMES TELL A STORY
(surnames appear in capitals)

Our surnames tell a story, and if you will take a peek
At our expansive index, you'll be reading TYLL next week.

Among the many WALKERS, you'll only find one STRIDE,
And where we all are going, we surely cannot hide.

So, take your SATCHELL across the FIELD, and go across DEMOORE,
Over the HILLS and VALLEYS and down the DELL for sure.

You'll find a WINTER but no summer; some ADAMS but no Eves,
A GARDINER and an ORCHARD, a WOODS but still no leaves.

The colours of the rainbow would be very nice to claim,
Instead we have some others: BLACK, WHITE, BROWN and GREEN.

A bit of French brings us LEBLANC; add GRAY and VIOLET*
If we try a little harder, we'll create a rainbow yet.

The skills of HAND and ARMSTRONG are represented for us all;
A PIPER, COOK and BAKER will create for us a BALL.

The CLOTHIER and GLOVER prepare us; the BUTLER answers our ring;
The MILLER and the FISHER their best treats soon will bring.

In our BINNS we have our BUTTERS, our BACON and our RICE,
Our WELLS are amply provident, which certainly is nice.

For our faith, we have one TEMPLE, with TOWERS and a BELL,
The CROSS is represented 'beyond a city WALL.'

We've a DICKENS but no Shakespeare, a PAGE without a book,
Will this arouse your interest, a family history 'bait and hook?'

Among us are all sizes: with LITTLE, LONG and SMALL,
Some 'smalls' are known as PETTIT, with a LIGHTFOOT down the hall.

A WALZ is always lovely with our special VALENTINE,
And we try to VOYCE our AMOR un-TYLL the end of time.

There's royalty among us -- with KING, McQUEEN and EARL,
With a somewhat portly ALDERMAN to help the flag unfurl.

The CARPENTER, WHEELER and TANNER, the BARKER and the SMITH,
Will create a proud community you'll be happy to be with.

We know our poem's corny -- (it is our first attempt) --
But if you can improve it, we will surely not prevent.

Just sharpen up your pencils and add your best of rhyme,
And when it is all over, we'll have had a very good time!

-- Anonymous

* P.S. ('Violet' is a first name, but we knew that you'd be kind.
At the end of the rainbow is a colour that brings happiness to mind.)
